Your Vision is Our Mission

Shout Out to being a “Valuable Team Member” at your job!!!

B.M. got her own job in childcare. She had previous experience and a passion in this field of work. Exceeds’ job coach Tina McGanty knew B.M. wanted to be independent in her search for a job, so she checked in with her every now and again. Tina noticed a posting for an opening at Tuality Learning Tree in Hillsboro and sent it to her.

Her father mainly takes her to and from work if he is not available, she takes the bus and does not mind. B.M. has been working for Tuality Learning Tree for 2 years now. She is responsible for various ages and for all their health and safety, including following protocols such as different diet restrictions. She has great natural support from management and her coworkers. B.M. also gets many compliments from both teachers and parents in the way she relates and interacts with the students.

To gain even more experience, B.M. has had the opportunity to be a “floater” for different classrooms. the teachers really enjoy the help when she comes into each of their classrooms. Because of all the experience she has gained and great work she has shown she recently has landed herself in a somewhat permanent classroom.

Tina checks in with B.M. bi-weekly to see what she has done or accomplished.

B.M. is fortunate to have her supervisor Sarah, from whom she gains a lot of her support. Sarah has guided her with feedback and insight along the way.

B.M. has a schedule, yet she is on call at the same time, and she makes herself available for the unexpected if she has no personal appointments. She is very flexible and has great connections with the students, parents, co-workers, and management.

B.M. averages around 30 hours a week on a good week. She loves to save her money for financial goals and responsibilities, this is another reason why she values this job so much.

Her favorite part of the job is truly to help out when and where she’s needed and to be there for the kids. B.M. says she “enjoys the younger ages children the most.” Her job coach Tina says, “B.M. has such an ambitious spirit and character about her, she loves spending quality time with her family and friends. She has a good balance of work and home life.”

Congratulations on “Starting a New Job”

After two long weeks of computer training, K has finally started working on the floor at her new job as a Retail Warehouse Associate at Best Buy! K has been picking and staging products for in-store pick up and home delivery, labeling merchandise, and restocking shelves. It's a lot to learn but she is picking it up quickly and her co-workers are very helpful and happy to answer questions and point her in the right direction.
